

Triple-R Ranch
Hay Maze

Release Of Liability

This release form is for the Tunnel Hay Maze at the Triple-R Ranch, Bunch Walnuts Rd., Chesapeake, VA 23322. Participation in the Hay Maze involves crawling in tunnels through hay in the dark by those persons registered with the Triple-R Ranch who will, while supervised by trained Triple-R staff, take part in overcoming the physical and mental challenges presented in solving a long challenging maze. The maze is constructed on several levels. While most parts of the maze would allow a person to push up through the ceiling of the maze in an emergency, short stretches of the maze go underneath another part of the maze leaving a four to eight foot space to be traversed before forcing ones way out. For safety, participants are sent into the maze with one or two companions and are to remain together throughout. A system is in place for limiting and monitoring the number of persons in the maze and to assure everyone comes out of the maze. Some aspects of a hay maze make it inherently dangerous, although careful safety precautions will be observed at all times. All participants are expected to adhere to all safety or other regulations established by the Triple-R Ranch. Violation of any such regulations may result in dismissal from the hay maze and camp.

Under no circumstances should anyone pregnant or with heart or respiratory problems enter the maze. Under no circumstances should someone with asthma try to do the maze. For those with asthma, prolonged exposure to dust, pollen and other allergens combined with heat, fatigue and varying lengths of disorientation could produce a serious respiratory emergency. The Hay Maze may present a health risk to those with other conditions than those listed. It is the responsibility of the participants and their parents or guardians to evaluate whether this activity poses a health threat and act accordingly.

This Release form must be signed by all participants (and parents if participant is under 18 years of age) before going in the maze.
